

BF200-2

(8). TITLE.:- FRENCH CROSS COUNTRY.

Picture.:- They're off ! About a thousand of them - and if you don't believe that, you can count them ! On they come, like --

--a great wave ! Somewhere in the middle is Leclerc, who is the favourite. He has shown such great promise --

--in the past, that his victory is more than hoped for. Through the woods the great dash continues with much spirit. It is not until the race is well under way --

--that the favourites begin to assert themselves, and the wave spreads itself out. Here it is that Georges Leclerc shows --

--what he really can do. He leads, but others are close on his heels !

He does it, but only by a yard ! A jolly --

--good race, with Leclerc confirming public opinion of his abilities. Very well run, Sir !
