

3-44251

(2). TITLE.:- THAT SINKING FEELING.

Picture. :- These new suits are designed specially for those who might, willingly or not, be due to "make a --

--hole in the water". They are all-enveloping affairs, which -- --can, at the will of the --
--wearer, be inflated by --
--blowing, after the head-piece has been donned...

This provides a wonderful air-cushion, with pillow, complete!

Now for the test ! From the upper deck, --

--off, they go ! But not into the depths, for the suits won't let them do more than this !....They --

--just rest on their pillows on the billows !

Having proved the efficiency of the buoy-dress they are helped from the water, just as one might hope for in similar, but --

--serious considerations.... Of course, they're not sorry to doff --

--the dress, but - oh ! this chap wants a smoke ! Got one ? ... Good ! And now matches ! Yes, he's got some ! And, what's more, both are quite dry ! ...

Now the inventor himself takes a drop ! A long drop, too ! But no harm done !

He's safe enough, so we can leave him there !