TITLE.:- JUNIOR MEET.

Picture. :-At the close of the youngsters' holidays, the Berkeley arrange a meet for children and their attendants only. ...

Before the hounds are brought out, the joint Masters give hunting hints to the kiddies, telling them how to -- --care for their ponies; why and when the horn is blown; and never, never, to ride down the hounds! ...

The young people listen attentively, and, let's hope, take to --

--heart all they are told ! ... You can't blame them --

--if they are glad when the lecture is over, and they move off, after the hounds, to the covert. ... It's supposed to be a --

X --meet for children and attendants; although it rather looks like one for attendants and children! ...

Or perhaps hunting keeps one feeling so young, they all claim to be children ! Anyhow, it's good fun for them - young or old !
