

(3). TITLE:- LIFEBOAT.

Picture.- Rough weather brings thousands of seagulls inshore in search of food. ... The sea breaking over -- --the "Prom" gives the lads a thrill. ... Strange how they love water - so long as there's --

--no soap !! With the seas as rough as this, a fine opportunity occurs to have a practice launch of the life-boat. .
Willing helpers drag her through the streets to --

--the foreshore. ... She's the "Mary Jane Turner", and has been inservice --

--about eighteen months. ... All aboard, and ready ! ...

Away she goes ! - slipping into the boiling seas, with her brave little crew handling her in masterly fashion. ...
In this instance there are thirteen in her crew. ... I always thought sailors were superstitious, but, I've also heard tell that "sailors don't care".

... It's a good job they don't when they get a shaking-up like the stout fellows manning the "Mary Jane Turner".

She looks like capsizing - fortunately she's of the self-righting type.

It's fine practice for more serious occasions. ... Good luck to her and her crew !
