TITLE:- HIGH OLD TIME.

Picture:- She's going to "reach for the ceiling". ...

Another young woman, Miss Elinor Smith, holds the altitude record, and Ruth's realous.

She's determined to beat that twenty-four-thousand odd feet --

--mark, set by Elinor last year. ... She's going to visit the "stars", --

--but not at Hollywood. ... As her little plane "takes off", everybody hopes she'll get there - and back - safely. ... Ruth's ambitious - very much so. See how she's climbing above everything and everybody in her big country. ... She's --

--even "sweeping the clouds away" on her trip to the "ceiling of the world".

After an hour-and-a-half, Miss Nichols decides that -- --her "high old time" should be brought to a conclusion. ... She's "topped" six miles ! That ought to satisfy any woman, I should say ! ... Six miles ! Far enough if you taxi it - but taking it this way, it must seem like a thousand leagues ! ... I beg she's glad to be back !

It was jolly cold up there - the thermometer she carried nearly shivered itself to pieces. ... She was, of course--

--warmly clad. ... Well done, Ruth ! - you can go to the top of the class !
