TITLE.:- EARTHQUAKE.

Picture.:- In case you're not sure, here's the exact location of Nicaragua.

An earth tremor of only six seconds duration laid the capital city in ruins and caused over a thousand deaths.

Managua was one of the most beautiful cities of Central America until this tragedy occurred. Now look at it ! Great piles of debris meet the eye at every turn. Here stood magnificent buildings, many housing diplomatic representatives of various nations.

Close by were business premises and hotels which fell about the ears of the occupants with tragic results. Fire added to the horrors of the stricken city.

Temporary hospitals did good first-aid work for the suffering people.

You can hardly believe that but a few hours previously this was a street.

There are only one or two buildings which have a resemblance to man-made structures.

If ever they get this to look like a city again - it'll be little short of a miracle !
