

2-158751

-8-

(8). TITLE.:- MAY IN THE WEST.

Picture.:- Everybody is happy, now that the "merrie month" is here. Dancing their way through the streets, --

(a part of the proceedings particularly enjoyed by the kiddies), they go to --

--the Town Hall to hear the reading of the Proclamation opening the Fair.

Her May Majesty - (typifying all that is far in the West Country of Old England when spring-time comes) - is --

--crowned "Queen of the Revels". The entire Main Square is set apart for --

--the prettiest part of the rejoicings. There's hardly a soul left indoors when the youngsters dance around the Maypoles set up in the heart of the town. The Fair blares forth -----

BRING UP "FAIR" EFFECTS
AT FAIR - and FADE
AT END OF STORY.