

(3). TITLE.:- HEROES OF THE SEA.

Picture. 1- Gallant deeds are all in their day's work.
Each one has done something to warrant special recognition
by the Royal Institution.

Coxwains Hood (on the left) of Hartlepool and Barnes (right) of Bognor rescued men from wrecked vessels,--

--whole Bowman Davies of Cromer went overboard and saved a drowning man.

Mrs. Polly Donkin, an elderly Cullercoats fishwife, made amazing collections on behalf of the lifeboat funds.

Coxwain Fenton (left) of St. Andrews, rescued ten, and Coxwain McPhail of Thurso, four from ships wrecked near their respective stations.

John Cahill is not a life-boatman, but he is, nevertheless, a brave man. With two others he risked his life to save the crew of a sinking steamer off Tralee.
