(2). TITLE.:- PEACE-MAKERS ON PARADE.

Picture.:- Mayor Walker himself leads the parade - smiling acknowledgment of the cheers of the crowd. He's not-- --a bit "put out" at the prospect of acting as pace-maker to the --

--peace-makers on their big "hike" up five miles of Broadway and Fifth Avenue.

It's a display which can't fail to inspire confidence in the people, that --

--all's well with the police. The youngsters are awe-stricken at seeing --

--so much of the guardians of the law in one eyeful.The

--athletic side of a policeman's life is brought to notice in this way, --

--while, naturally, the "Stars and Stripes" have a prominent place in the big parade.

The mounted section comes in for its full share of the honours. It's surprising that --

--the Mayor walked, with all these cars present -- but, of course, his name's Walker !
