TITLE.:- TOLL OF THE AIR.

Picture.:- Happy-go-lucky "Speed" Holman. Always smiling; but all too soon to meet a tragic end.

He has volunteered to give a "stunting" exhibition to help the program of the Omaha flying meeting.

He handles his machine in masterly style, turning and twisting her about, seeming to fly in all directions at once.
A magnificent exhibition of -- --aerial daring! Upside down - downside up - it's all the same to Speed Holman. He flirts with death for the thrill of it! See how he swoops to skim the earth with the wheels! Nobody ever failed to get his money's worth when "Speed" was "up".

The spectators are spell-bound, at his --

--wonderful daring! After a mighty climb, he prepares to give his audience the thrill of their lives! Keep your eyes on him!

(2).

Upside-down, but, Heavens (!) he's too low! He'll never do it!

(3).

Ooh! It's all over! "Speed" was killed outright! They could do nothing when they reached him! The end of a brilliant career!

He lived a life of thrills, and died with a thrill. Perhaps that's what he would have wished!
