

2-22921

(5).

TITLE:- WAR IN SCOTLAND.

Picture:- Forced marches from distant parts of the wild Highlands, bring the Southland army, (the Scottish--

--Horse, Lancers, and Gordons), into touch with the "enemy" "Northlanders", --

X.

--(the Camerons and Lovat Scouts). In striking contrast to the mounted troops --

--are the ~~the~~ Gordon Highlanders.

BRING UP BAGPIPES MARCH
& FADE SLOWLY OVER "SHOT"
OF TROOPS ONLY.

I think it was Napoleon said "an army marches on its stomach" - it's true of this army, anyway.

The G.O.C., General Sir Percy Radcliffe, studies the position, --

--while the defending troops make strong efforts to 'hold' the invading Northlanders.

The country is ideal for skirmishing tactics, and "Jock" learns a good --

--lesson in the art of warfare. I can't tell you who --

--won the war - it has to be worked out on paper by experts !

.... That's an idea, if we should ever be in danger of real war !