

(2).

TITLE:- A STICKY RACE.

Picture:- In these days it is hard to find a speed record to break.

These boys have found one. They are chancing breaking their necks on this world's longest bridge which they --
--helped to build. Look --

--at the camber on the track they have chosen; skiddy with wet paint, too !

They are running even now, and treading carefully !

One false step - and good night !

Down the slippery slope they waddle - er - rush !

White Cap is confident, but they --

--are both hugging the rails !

Black Cap's a foot ahead - I think !

He is - he isn't - he is - he isn't - well it doesn't matter !

What a mess there'll be if they take the short cut down !

No, they are sticking it; it's the wet paint, I expect !

Now they are coming down the straight like - er - missing links - looks like a dead heat - but White Cap is - no, he isn't - Black Cap just makes it ! - by a sticky foot !

Another chance for a patent medicine ad "without ginger's nerve pep. I should have --

--slipped out of the race and lost my win by a neck.