

135181

TITLE.:- HENLEY.

Picture.:- Beautiful Henley ! The Ascot of river events!
For both fashion and sport ! The sky is slightly overcast, but no --

--rain ! There are the Thames Rowing Club, and the Harvard University boats just started - to decide which crew shall row in the final for the Grand Challenge Cup.
This is one of the day's big events and commands +-

--a lot of attention. There is not much between them at the moment, but London looks to be a tiny bit ahead.

.....They are now passing the Steward's lawn, and still rowing fairly evenly, but --

--at the last reach nearing the post, the Harvard boat is getting left behind and it is evident that the London crew has still something in hand in the way of stamina - oh yes, London's drawing further ahead as the winning post is approached - and passed ! with many lengths to spare. It is obvious that the Harvard crew is thoroughly outclassed. So Britain beats America and the Challenge Cup stays with us.

The ladies can now uncrease their frocks and think about an ice ! Well, that's an idea ! Wonder what the time is ?
Heavens ! Well ! -

AND SO, FOR THE PRESENT, I LEAVE YOU !