TITLE.:- THEIR MAJESTIES AT EDINBURGH.

Picture.:- While on a state visit to Holyrood, Their Majesties visit Edinburgh, and fulfil a number of engagements. Ever loyal, their Scottish --

--subjects do not stint their welcome.

At St. Giles' Cathedral during divine service His Majesty occupies the historic --

--sovereign seat which is never used save by the reigning King.

MUSIC FOR 17 FEET.

The Queen, a radiant figure, wore silver grey satin, ladies, with a toque of swathed silver tissue !

After inspecting the unique 300 years old Communion Plate they --

--drive to the Scottish War Memorial, and pay their second visit to this Shrine of national pilgrimage. There are new additions since Their Majesties' previous visit; the chief being the magnificent statue, Reveille, above the entrance.

The Shrine is a thing of great beauty.

The Queen was particularly interested in a small Bible which was found by a German officer gripped in the fingers of a private of the Sea Force who died at Cambrai in 1915..... May Their Majesties long be spared to the Nation !
