

1379581

(8). TITLE.:- PATIENCE REWARDED.

Picture.:- High up on a parapet above the city streets, our operator --

--came across this very remarkable sight. .... After a long --

--wait he 'shot' the young chicks telling the world they were --

--hungry. .... Of course, mother couldn't stand that for long, so she shared a nice fat worm between them. .... But they weren't satisfied, so off she flew for more, --

--while the youngsters indulged in the "starvation chorus" once again. ....

Corn in Egypt ! Or rather another --

--worm for the squawking little gluttons, with beaks all open --

--to receive the fruits of mama's foraging expedition. .... There are no favourites in this family - it's share and share alike. .... It took twelve days --

--to secure these unique pictures, (the birds being very timid), but I think you'll agree they are worth the trouble !