

(9). TITLE.:- FRENCH PARADE.

Picture.:- General Gouraud, Military Governor of Paris, presents the troops, taking part in -- --the parade, to M. Doumer, the new President of the Republic.

SLIGHTLY BRING UP MARSEILLAISE AT*
AND LOUDER AT** THEN SLIGHTLY
SOFTER AT*** THEN TO BACKGROUND
AT C.

(C).

There follows an extended parade of troops - home and colonial - through the years --

--from 1650 to 1914 - and very strange some of them look !

Each little company is labelled with its date and the name of its country, --

--so that spectators can follow the progress of French military --

--history through a period of over two and a half --

--centuries. .... Soldiers of yesterday, and the day before yesterday, make a very striking spectacle, --

--as also do the regimental colours that served overseas from 1650.--

--to the start of the revolution. ....

AT "A" BRING UP MARSEILLAISE
TO "FULL" FADE AT FINISH OF STORY.
