(10). TITLE.:- 7-POWER CONFERENCE.

Picture.:- How to prevent the financial collapse of Germany, is the very difficult problem facing statesmen of seven great--

--nations. They meet at the British Foreign Office with determination to solve the riddle, and so avoid a calamity which would-- --have a disastrous effect throughout the entire civilized world. They are here at --

Second row, Monsieur Renkin (Belgium), Monsieur Briand (France), with Baron Matsudaira (Japan) behind Mr. McDonald, and Signor Grandi of Italy.

They all look to be in good mood, which appears to -- --indicate that progress has been made in their very serious deliberations.

Only by helping Germany to straighten out her financial affairs can we hope to avoid the big shock which is waiting just round the corner !
