

TITLE :- DAVIS CUP.

Picture :- The opening match, between Austin and Borotra, kept the vast crowd at a high pitch of excitement

Austin, our "young hope", tackled the famous Basque with confidence His clever work called forth great appreciation from time to time Hard luck!

These slow motion pictures give us a splendid idea of how these two "stars of the courts" tackled, with consummate ease, shots which would appear to be almost impossible to us simple mortals who fancy we know all about tennis -- until people like these show us that they've forgotten more than we ever ~~know~~ After the fight of his life, the Britisher beat Borotra. -

Thus the winning of the Cup was centred in the Cochet-Ferry duel The crowd sat it out in the pouring rain

Ferry "got away with" the first four games It gave him confidence, but Cochet

"came back" with such weight that he took the first set 6 - 4 Ferry, however, won the second But the next two fell to the Frenchman, giving the Cup to France Wild enthusiasm followed the finish! Umbrellas, cushions and other articles were thrown into the arena in the excitement Such things should be cheap in Paris just now!
