

TITLE:- TYRED TRAINS.

Picture :- It looks like a good idea : Fitting pneumatic tyres to railway trains should make travelling on the "iron road" a much more comfortable procedure than heretofore. The tyres are substantial, and "cut-out" most of the usual vibrations. That'll be a blessing to sleepers inside the cars, as well as being easier on the other kind of sleepers underneath ! It is said that a puncture will not affect the smooth running of the cars -- so "bang" goes the chance of a novel excuse for being late at the office !

Well, you've seen the first test of "rubber tyres on trains" - or should it be "trains on rubber tyres" ?
By the time you've worried that out, we may have them on English trains !