

(2). TITLE:- GOWES OF THE WEST.

Picture:- More trawlers than ever before enter for the races at this year's Fishermen's "Gowes".

The contest for the perpetual challenge cup presented by His -- --Majesty the King always excites the keenest competition. ... The honour alone is greatly coveted, but I suspect that the special prizes, with an additional fifteen pounds added, have something to do with it, too. .... The race is for ketch-rigged trawlers of -- --forty-tons and over. .... It is a striking demonstration of the masterful way they handle their vessels. ....

No wonder they face the perils of the sea, (in the ordinary course of gaining a living) without a quail. ... It is a fairly close race with Forsetti and Valerian just in the lead.

The bark of the little signal-gun --

--means that the crew of the Forsetti will be busy for a time collecting the King's Cup and those prizes I told you about !
