

(7).

TITLE.:- BACK TO THE RAILS.

Picture.:- Terrorists are believed to be responsible -- --for the disaster to the Basle-to-Berlin express. ...
 Although the whole train--
 --overturned, no serious injuries to passengers are -- --reported. Fortunately the cars are of a new-- --type and are of all-steel construction. Though they were --
 --subjected to a great shock when the crash occurred they are still serviceable - or, --
 --at least, they will be after a -- --few minor repairs. They are being put back on to --
 --the rails, all in one piece. It is a ticklish --
 --task, fraught with danger to the workmen on the job. ...
 The wheels must land squarely on the rails, or anything --
 --might happen ! The huge cranes swing their load back and forth --
 --and drop the undercarriage just where it is wanted !
 The coach itself is also dropped into its place, --
 --and, once again, it looks like part of a real train.
 Now for an overhaul and then back "on the job" again !