

(2). TITLE:- YOUTH HAS ITS DAY.

Picture:- The hundred years war pales into significance beside the eternal conflict between first and--

--second-year students at the University ! XXXX Every-- --year the fight is resumed - in fact, many of to-day's warriors are only--

--continuing the battle started by their grandfathers ! XXXX Up the hillside storm the --

--Freshmen intent on shaming the Sophomores - for that's how they look upon defeat. XXXX

On top of that staff are the "Second Year" colours. They-- --must come down at all costs ! XXXX Shirts, shorts, and other garments suffer severely, but--

--nobody cares, so long as the battle's won ! XXXX The more they're torn the better - it's all good for trade ! XXXX

The Sophomores' defence is good. XXXX They hand out black eyes and twisted noses until the Freshmen decide to-- --"give them best" while they've something left to give !
