

(2). TITLE.:- OLD AND THE NEW.

Picture.:- The Commandant of the College, General Sir Reginald May, inspects the old soldiers, whose-- --appearance still does great credit to their war-time training ! XXXX It is a parade of the Old and New--

--Brigades. XXXX Form Fours ! XXXX Right ! XXXX And the New--

--are ready for the grand March Past, with the Commandant taking the Salute. XXX There are five-hundred--

--of the Gentlemen Cadets in training for the British Army. XXXX It's to be hoped they'll never be called-- --upon to go through the awful times experienced by their partners in to-day's parade. XXXX Most of-- --these Boys of the Old Brigade have been out of uniform for a dozen years or so ! XXXX Still, they could teach the New Brigade a thing or two !
