(9). TITLE:- FISHER GIRLS.

Picture:- Eight hundred drifters are piling their "catches" on the quays at Yarmouth. XXXX

It's the fishing fleet's "grand slam". Nearly three thousand lassies, all--

--the way from Bonnie Scotland, are trying to cope with the rush of millions--

--of "fruits of the sea". XXXX The girls look upon it as a sort of annual holiday.

How many people would work as hard as this on their annual vacation, I wonder ! XXXX They "kill and--

--clean" the fish at terrific speed - It's a pleasure to watch them.

I repeat that - It's a pleasure to watch them !

The fish are packed in barrels ready for market, and then, at the end of the--

--day, the girls watch their "next day's work" coming in. XXXX

Yarmouth seems quite an interesting place, just now !

AND SO, FOR THE PRESENT, I LEAVE YOU !
