

(3).

TITLE:- POLICE PARADE.

Picture:- If you blew a police whistle in the -- --streets of Rome to-day - you'd be unlucky, for the whole force is on parade to celebrate its birthday. XXXX So there won't be many happy returns for to-morrow's Police Courts !

Of course, no picture of this kind would be complete without Signor Mussolini. (I don't know what we news-reel people would do without him!) XXXX He--

--believes in keeping the police force "up to catch" !
Ha ! XXXXX Deeds of--

--valour in the past year are rewarded by His Excellency,--

--who personally pins the decorations on the breasts of the honoured ones, and salutes them in the Italian manner. XXX

It follows as naturally as Monday follows Sunday, that the whole force must march past the great man. XXXXX They look well, too !

(I shudder to think what would happen if one was out of step !)

The men have a reputation for being "dogged", now I know--

--shy ! XXXX The whole show took about three hours ! XXXX
It--

--must be quite interesting to some people to know exactly where the police are going to be for that length of time !