

2885-2

Title Music
full out at start to background at
X X

Chinese Title.
- - - -
- - - -
dissolving to
Their Daily Dozen
Chinese Soldiers at Drill in Shanghai.

Commentary.:- Just after X in Title.

Oh, of course, not many of you can read Chinese ! XXXX It's easy really, but we'll have it the right way up first. XXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXX Their Daily Dozen. Chinese soldiers at drill. XXXXX There you are!

And here they are ! XXXX Their "physical jerks" are much the same as in a Western Gymnasium, horizontal bar work being particularly favoured by their instructors. XXXX

Pole-jumping, too, helps to keep the troops "gingered up", but--

--their drill is perhaps much more "striking" to Westerners, especially when it is practice with the beheading knives !
Brrh !

Can you wonder that people "lose their heads" out in the Far East ? XXXX I once heard a dear young thing call this drill "most awfully 'swish'". XXXXX She was about right !

I should hate to be one of an opposing army, for I am quite attached to my "upper storey" - despite a few grey hairs !