RUGGER BY NIGHT) Members of the Blackheath
Club "keep fit" by the light of flares.

-London-

Picture:- The Blackheath Rugger Club deserves any wins it gets. This is the way--

--the players spend their free evenings. First physical jerks by floodlight - don't spoil the parade - and then after loosening up--

--their muscles, routine practice ! Strenuous scrum work, and fierce tackling to use on their opponents in the daily matches. Good eye training, to follow-- --the ball by artificial light. Owing to foggy weather, this--

--lighting was used for the first time in the history of football at Exeter for the match with Bridgend. The players--

--say the conditions were almost equal to daylight. The team plays for half an hour, and then-- --exercises for half an hour, and so on ! They ought to race to touch for a good dinner after this !
