An alarm of a heavy gas attack--
--on the town! Fire brigades rush to-- --the affected area and start the work of-- --rescue. The firemen fix their gas masks-- which will protect them from the poisonous--
--fumes, and while playing water on the gas--
--clouds, search for the stricken people.

The diabolical weapon has done its work, and--
--many non combatants are victims, but the-- --rescuing party is well equipped to-- --deal with the awful iconoclast. Masked stretcher--
--bearers walk into the danger--
--zone without fear. The-- --hoses gradually disperse the evil thing, and dressing--
--stations ease the suffering.

Hanover is doing this practice in case of future gas--
--attacks. The fear of war is not banished.
