

PRIDE OF DUNDEE - A start is made on demolition of the famous 200-year-old Town House.

Picture:- The famous old Town House of Dundee has had its day, and will soon be but a memory. For 200 years it had pride of place among-- --the city buildings. Now, what with modern town planning and--

--rumours of dangerous weaknesses, it is being demolished; and the weather vane goes first!

The clock takes some hard knocks, and can't strike back! Its bell for "time" - "seconds out!" - has rung its last.

Old Scottish worthies wag their gray heads and talk of vandalism, but the work goes on.

There goes the last of the weather vane in its faded gilt coat. For two centuries it has swayed in the winds of--

--Bennie Dundee, but a raging gale won't move it now! Poor old Town House! Another sacrifice on the altar of progress!
