

PIONEER AVIATORS - Opening of first school of flying (in 1908) commemorated at Pau.

-France-

Picture:- The French make air history imperishable by erecting--

--a memorial stone to tell future generations of the first--

--flying school in the world. The school was built at Pau, near Biarritz in 1908 - 23 years ago by Wilbur Wright and his brother Orville, the American aeroplane pioneers. Representatives of all nations attend--

--the ceremony, and the American ambassador--

--Mr. Walter Edge unveils the commemorative stone.
There--

--is now no country in the world which does not possess its own school for air pilots. And remember it's from these training grounds that every conquering aero pilot comes. (Did you notice that ?)