

TROOPING THE COLOUR - At Devonport, the Norfolk Regiment commemorates the Battle of Kut-el-Amara.

Picture. :- The Norfolk Regiment troops the Colour at Devonport, in celebration of the anniversary of the Battle of Kut-el-Amara. The engagement started at dawn on February 23rd, 1917, and the subsequent success of the operation was directly due to the courage and steadiness of this Regiment. In face-- --of a determined enemy, it forced a passage across the Tigris in full flood, and under terrible gun and rifle fire--

--from the Turks, established itself on the opposite bank, thus affording cover--

--for the crossing of the remaining forces.

BAND UP TO FULL UNTIL PUNCH MARKS.

All honour to the gallant Norfolks !

BAND QUICKLY UP FOR LAST 5 BEET.
