

STUDY OF THE SKIES - Paisley Observatory attains its fiftieth year of usefulness.

-Scotland-

Picture :- The famous Observatory overlooking the town of Paisley celebrates its Jubilee this month. It was founded by Mr. Thomas Coats, who died only two weeks-- --after the building was opened. Every sky and weather change is recorded here. Rainfall, temperature,--

--sunshine - everything is scientifically observed.
That is the sun--

--recorder. Not a very busy instrument, I should say !

These thermometers tell you if its cold or warm, to-day !

This is the remarkable equatorial telescope which makes the heavens appear quite neighbourly and close ! Mr. John Woodrow, the cubator is a-- --star gazer, but he doesn't tell fortunes. All the-- --same he sees more stars than a Camera sparring partner !
