ARCHERY IN LONDON - Keen contest for the Norton Cup, under the auspices of the Royal Toxophilite Society.

-Hyde Park-

Picture.:- Old English archery still survives. Here are competitors for the Norton Cup, the most coveted trophy of amateur archers throughout the country.

Accuracy of eye and graceful movement characterise all good--

--archers, which makes it an excellent sport for women.

Even under bad conditions - - I mean - - gusty winds,--

--etc, skilful players score some wonderful shots,--

--not bull's eyes, by the way. A centre--

--hit is called "gold". Each competitor shoots--

--twelve dozen arrows in about 2½ hours. Mr. Bernard--

--makes the best score. In the Middle Ages he would have been a "shooting star".
