

ACTIVITY RIDE - Life Guards rehearse their thrilling display for the Royal Tournament.
-Windsor-

---

Picture. The Life Guards at play ! Each man is not only a good soldier, but a fine athlete ! Their exhibitions--

--of horsemanship are second to none. Clean hurdling and no gate crashing !

Saddles, or no saddles, it's all the same to these cavalymen !

When a famous general created the phrase "Up Guards, and at 'em !" he knew--

--his men ! Over the mount with a clock-work-like-- --precision. Up and over ! No ! One horse has gibbed ! Wants to go home, I think !

This is merely a rehearsal for the annual Royal Tournament, but the evolutions serve--

--to show that the men possess the same nerve and decisiveness which have always been characteristics of the Guards' fine fighting record.
