ROYAL BIRTHDAY CAKE - H.R.H. Prince George performs the ceremony of "cutting the cake" at ball in aid of Queen Charlotte's Hospital. Exclusive pictures--
-Grosvenor House, Park Lane, London.--

Picture.:- A rare sight indeed ! A birthday cake celebrating an 188th birthday, surrounded by a bevy of beautiful debutantes. Prince George, the great great great grand-son of Queen Charlotte attends to cut this unique cake which honours her natal day.

FANFARE 13 FEET.

This is the fifth annual birthday ball held in aid of--

--the Maternity Hospital which bears Queen Charlotte's name.

Portions of the cake are presented to all the guests who come to make this function one of the most--

--brilliant and charming of London's social season. The Countess of Winchelsea--

--and Nottingham acts as Dame d'Honneur and her chief Maid-in-Waiting--

--is the Honourable Bronwyn Scott-Ellis.
Queen Charlotte's Hospital will benefit greatly from this function so notably honoured by H.R.H. Prince George.
