

WIGHTMAN CUP TENNIS - The tenth annual match between the United States and Great Britain. Wimbledon.

Picture.:- Miss D.E. Round of Great Britain and Miss Helen Jacobs of-- --America occupy the Courts for their battle in the Wightman Cup--

--contest. Miss Jacobs is a hard-hitting determined player. Her style of short swing hitting gives her an advantage--

--over Miss Round's long swing and late hitting. A stroke which is not so effective --

--as it is picturesque. In the firstset, Miss Round holds her own but--

--Miss Jacobs makes a great effort and--

--wins her match for the American team.

Applause acknowledges their excellent play and greets the approach --

--probably the best pair of players in the world.

Miss Moody has frequently been called invincible, but her British opponents gives her much to think about during the match. Her tactics in the first games--

--are a display of sheer excellence. Soon, however,--

--the American player by an uncanny consistency of play scores the balance of points. After a fine exhibition of brilliant tennis the English player--

--receive the coup-de-grace! An honourable defeat by an opponent whose skill has gained the world's admiration and applause.
