A WEEK OF SUN-DAYS - Old Sol smiles - and Londoners

seek the cooling influence of the open-air bathing places
-London-

Picture:- Milk and buns are forgotten. This is the hot day's way to spend lunch time at the Lansbury--

--Lido in Hyde Park. Diving into a cool pool is better than plunging into a stuffy restaurant.

Everybody is taking the chance to get--

--drenched with sunshine and nature's health giving rays--

--before getting back to office, or shop.

Judging by appearances, it evidently makes the hair grow.

Business girls and youths in their scores revel in the fleeting opportunity--

--to worship the sun before it slips back into retirement behind that deep depression centred--

Oh ! Sunny Son bathes, too ! Bless his pink toes !

Now let us take a peep at Hornsey's fine bathing appt., with its fragrant garden and lovely fountain. Lucky people must live--

--in this suburb. Sort of "boys and girls come out to play" atmosphere about this.

An afternoon siesta ! An old Spanish custom ! But it's getting up time girls ! What a wet alarm clock !

Good company, here ! A quiet cigarette and a bottle of lemonade.

No ! This is not H ollywood ! Well, Hornsey is a good place to be in !

Someone starts a class of instruction in something or other. But it's too hot. School soon breaks up.

Perhaps we are on the verge of national bankruptcy Maybe the world is all--

--at sixs and sevens. But looking at these smiles, it makes forget it.
