

2-288851

LANCASHIRE COTTON PAGEANT - Great spectacle which will, it is hoped, help to revive prosperity in the north-west.-Manchester-

Picture.:- The glamour of the east ! Guarded by faithful tribesmen of the desert, the Caliph rides by on the sacred elephant. Subjects fall on their knees and bow their heads--

--to the dust before this great one of the Orient. Vendors--

--of rich merchandise, silks from China, rare fruits from the Indies, cease their--

--bartering, forget the beautiful slave girls-- --and crowd to see the Lord of the East ride by. And all this-- --is a small part of the Lancashire Cotton Pageant at Belle Vue,--

--Manchester. Another scene, a market day 100 years ago. The Pageant makers have reweven the colourful fabric of Lancashire history.