

2-54P851

JET BALL - WET BALL - Parisian firemen celebrate their National Fete with thrilling "battle of the hoses". -France-

Picture.:- The firemen of Paris have a National Fete all to themselves ! This is how they celebrate it ! Ever since hoses were invented, some grown-up child has found a joy in squirting at somebody else and this game of jet ball provides a sporting excuse for still doing so !

A water jet has to drive the ball into the opposition goal and score points over the other fellow; and it's a--

--damp business. If there are fouls, this is one !:

It seems to be great fun for the players, but not-- --so funny sometimes for the spectators ! This-- --game will never gain popularity in New York. It's too wet ! Anyway, if when on holiday you--

--visit the Paris Firemen's National Fete, don't forget your mac !