

2-250P21

RACEHORSE TRAINING ON THE SANDS - - Mr. J. Russell,

South African trainer, selects Barnston Beach, as summer exercise ground for his charges. Yorkshire-

Picture.:- Mr. Russell takes his "string" for a seaside holiday. They are better off than the two-legged visitors, for they get all the benefits without the 'snags'.... No extras for "the cruet"; deck-chairs don't exist --

--for them; and they get a free bathe every morning. The ground at Epsom was considered to be a little too-- --hard for good training, so here they are, far away from outside interference, preparing to--

--'confound the critics' and win a place in the esteem of the modest backer. They look as though their paddle has done them good !

Even thoroughbred racehorses get skittish sometimes. ... "Irish Twin" has a little frolic. Up, lady ! Atta, girl ! (There's work ahead !)

Mr. and Mrs Russell have high hopes of "Fore" and "On Hand"...

Then the trainer says "Let's all go down the strand" ---- and--

--how they go ! They'll ~~all~~ bring profits to the prophets , whatever else happens !