LAND "FLEET" ASSEMBLES - - Over two hundred tanks
of all sizes arrive on Salisbury Plain for annual exercises.

-Wiltshire-

Picture.:- "The Grand Fleet" has arrived takes on a different meaning to-day, for it indicates that the grey ironclads of the land navy--

--are here. The "battle fleet" sails the turf of Salisbury--

--Plain in answer to a "general assembly" call to the First Tank Brigade..

Altogether there are no less than two-hundred-and-thirty of these land-ships on the Plain--

--to-day, but as our operators can only be in about half-a-dozen places at once,--

--we can only show you a few of them. Behind the medium tanks come the-- --whippets, crowding close together like so many greyhounds going "all out" after the electric hare.

There is supposed to be a battle on, but the High Command has ordained that they shall use imagination--

--instead of ammunition - - an economy measure with points in its favour !

This particular section has, in theory, been "wiped out", but they're a pretty lively lot for dead men, and go--

--"down to dixie" for their share of "what's going" - otherwise known as "the doings".

The Tanks Corps will tell you, C O R P S doesn't spell 'corps'.
