SHELSLEY WALSH - - HILL CLIMB - - R.J.G.Nash

only fails to equal the record by two-fifths-of a second. -Warwickshire-

Picture.:- Cars are all assembled for the famous climbing meeting--

--at Shelsley Walsh hill. In 1930 Von Stuck--

--an Austrian, set the record for the one thousand yards-- --gradient at 42 and 2/5 seconds, and this record--

--still holds. Will anyone break it to-day? They're all hoping and-- --trying anyway. The average gradient is one in eight point nine, and at awkward points an "S" bend makes the car and driver--

--wriggle. This corner is a bad one! The sharp bend and steep rise--

--makes speed recovery difficult. The crowd gets the thrill--

--of seeing R.J.G. Nash--

--get to within two fifths of a second of breaking a fine record. Hard luck!
