REDSKINS RACE - - Canadian Indians wins exciting war-cance race of crews drawn from a dozen tribes of the North West. Coupeville, U.S.A.-

---

Picture:- More romance from the Far West ! In beautiful Fugit Sound, the North West Indians--

--launch their canoes for the great Red Skin dug-out-- --race. Thirteen tribes compete with tribal canoes, each-- --several generations old. The dug-outs are carved-- --from solid trunks of massive trees. The-- --Nafesa from Vancouver are leading, followed-- --by the Kilico. The-- --Penjoleops, and others whose names are nearly unpronounceable.

It is a great honour to win this age-old race, and each brave strains every muscle to secure victory for his tribe. The Canadian Nafesa win, and--

--for once, the Maple Leaf obscures the Stars and Stripes.
