

2280951

BLUE-COAT BOYS IN THE CITY - - Boys of Christ's Hospital pay their annual visit to the old church in Newgate Street.

-London-

Picture.:- The peculiar costume of the Blue Coat boys has always called forth some interest. The boys are--

--visiting London to receive the ancient gifts from the Lord Mayor. The School was founded by Edward The Sixth as a-- --charity school. Even now I understand the Charter requires one non-paying-- --student to be a school pupil. They are now on their way to attend service-- --in the old Church of Newgate Street. Before entering they await--

--the arrival of the Lord Mayor. The school - - actually called Christ's Hospital is now-- --at Horsham. But this visit to-- --the old site keeps bright its historic link with the City.