

WOMEN'S CROWNING GLORY - - Hairdressing styles

through five thousand years as seen at Olympia.

Picture.:- For changes in feminine fashion, hairdressing tops--

--the pole. Five thousand years ago the Court dancers of Egypt got a hair-cut something like this. Simple, but severe !

Grecian ladies of two thousand years B.C. made a much more elaborate affair of it.

Down a few centuries the Pompadour created this seductive style, and brought Louis XIV to her knees, --

--while Louis XV's daughter Princess de Lambelle rightly wanting to be different, did this !

It didn't become too popular, and this style replaced it in favourite court circles. When the French-- --Revolution upset the thrones of Kings, Queens and favourites, girls bobbed like this, in sardonic sympathy with the victims of the guillotine.

Matured ladies about the ripe age of 21 years will recognise the left as 1923; the other as you are now !

And if you're honest, will admit braving the electric chair to achieve it !
