SULTAN IN PARIS - - The Sultan of Morocco pays a state visit to the French capital where he attends the Mosque.

Picture:- Monsieur Lebrun arrives to receive His-- --Majesty Sidi Mohammed and suite. East meets West in the bright--

--French capital. The Sultan and entourage includes his Grand Vizir and other Moroccan personages who visit the--

--Paris Mosque. There are many Mohammedans in France and the--

--regular Eastern call of the Muezzin goes out from--

--this tower, bidding the faithful to sunset prayers.

In the beautiful gardens of the Mosque a great crowd awaits to welcome and cheer the Eastern Monarch and his little son, Prince Moulay Hassan. He is indeed the apple of his father's eye, and when--

--official dates permit, is seldom absent from his side.

Admirers load the young Prince with--

--gifts, mechanical toys, games, and models of beautiful workmanship, but his--

--favourite game is to watch and feed, and--

--coax the pigeons. His charm and intelligence have made him--

--a popular figure in Paris streets. He is but three years --

--old, yet even so, his high destiny is to rule the vast territory of Morocco.
