

FEAST OF THE GRAPE - - Roman populace celebrate one of the most successful grape harvests of recent years.

-Italy-

---

Picture.:- Every year when the prolific grape almost obscures the leafy vine which gives it birth, Italians hold a feast of the Grape. For a day-- --Romans cease work and make whoopee - - I mean - - holiday. Grapes decorate the streets, and public fountains flow--

--with wine in the place of water. An improvement which is--

--unfortunately not made permanent. The floats represent Italian life and--

--customs, ancient and modern. Barrels of wine are broached in the-- --streets, and well, Rome seems to be a place to be in about this time !
