

3-411 P51

NEW SEAT OF LEARNING - - The Lord Mayor of Portsmouth inaugurates new £125,000 Secondary School for the naval city. -Hampshire-

Picture.:- With this imposing pile of bricks,-- --Portsmouth has added another brick to the main-- --edifice of British education. The schools are being opened by the-- --Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress, who have given--
--the city great service in the cause of better educational facilities.

On the opening of that door, 11 hundred odd scholars--
--receive the benefits of modern class-rooms, music-rooms, libraries with comfortable chairs for study. Cane seats may be introduced later, if required.

With inspiring words, the Lord Mayor addresses the scholars.

The boys cheer him heartily. The girls - er - decide not to commit themselves so hurriedly.