

2-151951

CANINE NOBILITY - - Thousands of aristocratic dogs of all breeds at Kennel Club's 71st show.

-Crystal Palace-

Picture.:- Dog popularity seems to be on the increase.
This year's--

--entries for the Kennel Club Crystal Palace show have only once been exceeded.

Two thousand five hundred dogs get all "dolloed up"--

--to appear before the judges. What an annoying neighbour to have during one's 'toilette'.

Poodles are still pets in some homes, it seems.
The prize winner in this--

--class is 'Nicolette', a lady of quality.

'Josephine of Hellingley' takes the first prize for mastifs.

There are worse fates than to be born a pure bred samoyed, it seems !

Very handsome animals these ! Among whom 'Alesha' takes the honours.

Welsh corgis are further described as canine oddities !
They have apparently taken shelter from this rude suggestion.

Ah ! A frame-up of a terrier by the golden retriever
'Prince'.

'My Lord Bill' has brains. He sleeps through it all ! (Yawn) What a life !