

INVERNESS LANDSLIDE - - Great fall of earth

causes much damage in the vicinity of the Castle.

-Scotland-

---

Picture.:- Experts are now at work ascertaining whether the foundations of Inverness itself have not-- --been weakened by the landslide which alarmed the whole town. In the early morning a tremendous crash and rumble--

--were heard. Two thousand tons of rock had slipped and wrecked a mission hall and several dwellings. In one house a sleeping girl of 11 years--

--was rescued from the only room which was not crushed by the fall. Many had-- --extraordinary escapes from being buried in their beds. The-- --outer wall of the Castle is only eight feet from the edge of the landslide.

Further damage is being averted by underpinning and all the unemployed have suddenly found jobs.